Bailey Streetscene help to transform Channing Junior School entrance with bespoke seating elements and planter.

Located in the picturesque neighborhood of Highgate, North London. The project aimed to create a welcoming and functional seating area at the school's entrance to accommodate parents and guardians during pick-up times.

The client sought an aesthetically pleasing and durable outdoor seating solution that would seamlessly integrate with the school's surroundings. The focus was on providing a comfortable space for parents and guardians to wait while ensuring the design reflected the school's commitment to quality and excellence.

Bailey Streetscenes proposed a tailored solution that included a large bespoke oval-shaped Inspira planter with integrated hardwood seating, along with a selection of Greengate seats and benches.

The seating and planters are constructed of Cor-Ten steel, a naturally weathering steel that will gradually develop a rust-like patina after to exposure to the elements, creating a distinctive and attractive reddish-brown surface. This natural rusting process not only adds visual appeal but also improves the steel's corrosion resistance.

The oval-shaped planter not only added a touch of uniqueness to the entrance but also served as a functional divider, improving the flow and usability of the space. The integrated hardwood seating provided inviting and comfortable seating for parents and guardians.

The introduction of Bailey Streetscene's tailored solutions and products at Channing Junior School has had a positive impact on the overall environment, successfully creating a communal space that fosters a sense of community and engagement among parents.
